Mobile Governance and Mobile Cloud Services

June 28 - 29, 2017

WE are glad to announce a Programme on Mobile Governance and Mobile Cloud Services, June 28 - 29, 2017. The programme details are given below. We appreciate your proactive initiatives in making your technologies more secure and reliable.

Introduction:

It is the responsibility of the Government to offer citizen centric services. When they are delivered through electronic channels it is known as e-Governance and when onto user's mobile phone, it is known as m-Governance. The demand for banking and financial services through mobile phones such as mobile banking, mobile payment and mobile wallets through multiple channels is fast growing. To keep pace with the growing trend and expectations of customers for online purchases, e-commerce and m-commerce transactions, Banks and Financial Institutions need to integrate their backend processes for interoperable payment solutions. This programme would discuss the convergence, integration, architecture and security issues of m-Governance.

Reducing the load on mobile phones and executing services on demand from backend supported systems has given rise to Mobile Cloud Computing (MCC), which is gaining popularity. The issues of MCC services, Security and performance would be discussed.
